

Dismiss Acheson Demand

Resolution From Legion Insists Cabinet Officer Be Removed

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Legion convention today adopted a resolution demanding the dismissal of Secretary of State Dean Acheson and "those in his department" found wanting in the proper execution of their duty to their country.

Adopted overwhelmingly by a voice vote, the resolution declared that the State Department requires "new and stalwart leaders" and asserted "our patience is exhausted." We demand immediate attention to this all important subject. We accept nothing less."

Last year in Miami the Legion adopted a resolution regarding the State Department. It called for the "immediate removal of the present corps of leaders whose every action has reflected incompetency, indecision and defeatism."

It made a similar demand at its 1950 convention in Los Angeles. The resolution asked that those in the department "found wanting" should be replaced by "new leaders—men who have the respect of the people—men who have unquestioned courage and are unafraid of the possible results of action."

The convention's action was taken shortly before Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, was to address the Legion.

The report was submitted by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Legion and was read to the convention by Chairman Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, Tex.

Brings Applause
When Kelley read the sentence demanding dismissal of the secretary of state, applause and cheers rose throughout the auditorium.

The report dealing with foreign affairs characterized the United Nations as "ineffective as an instrument for world peace."

Earlier, the legion urged life imprisonment for persons caught a third time illegally possessing or peddling narcotics.

The resolution was one of many which the organization is hammering into its new platform on national and international issues.

The resolution proposed that persons convicted of illegally selling or possessing narcotics should be punished with a $2,000 fine and a maximum of 10 years in jail on a first conviction; $2,000 fine and imprisonment up to 20 years on a second conviction; and a $2,000 fine and life imprisonment for a third conviction.

Aid to Korea
Other resolutions adopted urged: Legion units to consider a program giving material assistance to the children of Korea.

The Legion rejected a proposal to set up a new auxiliary to be known as "fathers of American Legionnaires."

Dr. Louis H. Bauer, president of the American Medical Association, appealed for Legion support in the A. M. A. fight against national compulsory health insurance.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, told the Legionnaires there is "nothing new about the Korean war."

He credited the vitality of the Marine Corps Reserve as largely responsible for accomplishing "the impossible feat" of the build-up of strength early in the Korean War.

Yesterday's parade, one of the biggest in Legion history, provided an introduction to today's speech by Stevenson and an address Monday by his Republican opponent, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Eisenhower and his running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon, marched in the parade with some 75,000 other legionnaires. The general was with the delegation from his state, Kansas, and Nixon was with his California group.

From morning until after dark for about 10 hours—the veterans of three wars moved from 34th Street to 72nd Street. Confetti rained down on them from Fifth Avenue office buildings.

The Missouri delegation carried a big sign reading, "Meet me in St. Louis," referring to the fact next year's Legion parade will be in St. Louis. A legionnaire rode a large mule at the head of the Missouri delegation.

Thou mayest from law, but not from scorn escape. The pointed finger, cold, averted eye, insulted virtue's hiss, thou canst not fly. — Charles Sprague.

Symington Has Majority of 187,745 Official Vote Count

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Stuart Symington rolled up a massive majority of 187,746 over President Truman's choice for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Missouri's Aug. 5 primary election.

The secretary of state's official canvass showed today Symington polled 368,595 to 180,849 for the President's man, Attorney General J. E. Taylor.

The third democratic candidate, State Sen. John A. Johnson of Ellington, trailed far behind with 44,216.

More than 100,000 of Symington's margin was piled up in St. Louis, where voters turned out heavily. The count there was Symington 133,825, Taylor 24,879.

On the Republican side, incumbent Sen. James P. Kem of Kansas City had no trouble winning re-election with a vote of 304,191 to 39,531 for William McKinley Thomas and 16,974 for Hiram H. Grosby.

Big Donnelly Vote
Former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Lebanon rolled up a majority of a little less impressive than Symington's in defeating Congressman Phil J. Welch of St. Joseph for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Donnelly polled 365,992 to 234,426.

Man Fearing For Life Slain At St. Louis

Union Business Agent Shot Six Times by Killer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A union business agent who expressed fear for his life earlier this year was shot to death Tuesday night in an industrial company loading lot near downtown St. Louis.

Joseph F. Gribler of the AFL Building Laborers' Local 110, of St. Louis County, had been shot six times at point-blank range.

He was the second business agent of the local shot to death this year. The first was George Myers, found shot to death in his stalled automobile in suburban Maplewood last March 13.

Maplewood police said that Gribler told them after Myers' body was found that "I'm going to be next." He did not explain the statement.

Body in Weeds
Gribler's body was found in a clump of weeds in the loading lot of the Interstate Equipment Co.

Several persons in the area reported they heard two men arguing shortly before the shots rang out. Moments after the shooting a green automobile, its lights out, sped from an alley adjoining the lot.

Gribler's automobile was found parked about six blocks from where he was slain. His wife said she had not seen her husband in 10 days, when he told her he was leaving the city on a business trip.

She said he telephoned her Monday morning from suburban Weston, but had not returned to their home.

Police Cpl. Thomas Ryan, off duty but armed, was attracted by the sound of the shots but the killer had fled before he reached Gribler's body.

"From the marks left by the bullets, it seemed as though the person with the pistol was standing directly over Gribler when he fired," Ryan said.

Feet of Square Dancers Tingle For Season

With the first thoughts of fall as September draws near, the feet of the square dancers have begun to tingle and they are eager to get started again for a season of whirling and fancy steps.

Tentative plans are being made to start the advanced group about Sept. 19, and a beginners group on the following Monday.

There are plans being discussed for an inter-district group, too. Floyd Friday, president of the Sedalia Square Dance Association and anyone interested in square dancing may contact Mr. Priddy or other members of the association.

Square dancing, which slows down during the summer because it is too hot, has become the most popular pastime of the cooler seasons and the dancers are looking forward to the months of fun that lie ahead, when the music starts up, the voice of the caller grows louder and louder above the gay tunes and every man swings his girl.

Work Approved on State Highways

WASHINGTON (AP)—Work on 620.6 miles of federal aid highways in Missouri was in progress July 31, with plans approved but work not yet started on an additional 148.5 miles, the Commerce Department announced.

The report showed the construction already started will cost a total of $38,842,000 of which the federal government will pay $20,418,000.

Son Dead in Gas Filled Home
TRENTON, Mo. (AP)—Harry Quigley returned from work yesterday to find his ten-year-old son dead and his wife unconscious in their gas-filled home.

Quigley told police all burners on the bottle gas stove were on. The woman was in critical condition.

Rankin Loses House Seat To Abernethy

Mississippian Is Defeated in the Democratic Primary

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Rep. John Rankin, the last of Mississippi's old-school white supremacists and denouncer of Yankees, has lost his seat to his former colleague Rep. Thomas Abernethy.

Rankin and Abernethy were opponents because the State Legislature combined their districts last April to eliminate a congressional seat lost in the 1950 census.

Rankin conceded defeat early today after a first-round return from 341 of the district's 358 precincts in yesterday's state Democratic primary showed:

Abernethy, 26,903.
Rankin, 20,568.

The 49-year-old Abernethy was re-elected after dethroning the 70-year-old dean of the Mississippi congressional delegation, who was seeking his 17th term in the House of Representatives.

Abernethy's victory statement said he had been Rankin's friend during his own 10-year tenure in Congress and "I regret we found ourselves in the same district, thus making our opposition unavoidable."

Rankin, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, was co-author of the bill creating the Tennessee Valley Authority and author of the measure creating the permanent House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Abernethy, a senior member of the House Agriculture Committee, based his campaign on two issues: his position in Congress to aid farmers and his comparative youth.

Rankin belittled the administration's farm program and declared it did things "to rather than for the farmer."

Mississippi voters kept the state's bone-dry prohibition law by turning down a county-option liquor proposal.

Sixty-seven of the 82 counties were against county option; 15 favored it.

In other races U. S. Sen. John Stennis led in every county to win his bid for re-election against undertaker William Davis.

U. S. Reps. John Bell Williams, Arthur Winstead and William Colmer, incumbents, rolled over all opposition to win another term in Congress.

Two other congressmen, Reps. Jamie Whitten and Frank Smith, were unopposed for re-nomination on the Democratic ticket, but mounted to election in this predominantly Democratic state.

T. J. Raines Heads Electric Co-Op.

Thomas J. Raines, rural route Nelson, is again president of the Central Missouri Electric Cooperative Inc., having been elected Tuesday night by the newly organized board of directors.

The organization held its annual meeting and election of board of directors members Tuesday. The meeting was held in a large room at the northwest corner of the Missouri State Fair grounds, across from the Pittsburgh-Cornell Inc. plant, where displays of electrical equipment was also arranged.

Board members elected were John M. Sneed, Sedalia, Porter Henry of Springfield, and Don Milne, Miami. These members elected for terms of three years met with the old members and re-organized at a special meeting.

At the special meeting Mr. Raines was re-elected president; Otto H. Pinkpank, Sweet Springs, elected vice-president; John M. Sneed, re-elected as secretary-treasurer.

Plea for Bench Realized as Death Comes

Across the street from Bothwell Hospital Mrs. Euphemia Page, 85, lived with her sister, Miss May Higleyman, at 623 East 13th.

She would sit on the porch and watch the people who had been to the hospital for treatment, or to visit sick relatives, and it worried her that they had to stand so long and wait for a bus or other transportation. It was even worse during the hot weather and she thought if there could only be a bench there for them to sit on until the bus came it would be such a help.

She got busy on the idea and called the city hall asking if it would be possible to take one of the benches at the courthouse, but they couldn't do that. Then she got in touch with the hospital and was told they would take it up at the board meeting.

On Friday Mrs. Page fell and fractured her hip and was taken to the hospital. On Tuesday the board met and decided to have a bench put there on the corner. Then they called to tell her about it, but the word that she had been successful in getting the bench came just a little too late—she died just a short time before.

Dulles Raps Foreign Policy

Sharp Attack in Address Before Science Group

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—John Foster Dulles rapped American foreign policy today as "suicidal" and proposed a plan to disintegrate "the empire of Soviet communism" from within.

The Republican foreign policy adviser delivered his sharp attack in an address prepared for delivery before the American Political Science Association.

He called upon the United States to pay more attention to the peoples and problems of Asia, Africa and South America and to abandon "a failure of its program of containing communism."

"The empire of Soviet communism can be disintegrated from within," Dulles said, adding: "Already it is over-extended, covering 800 million people of what were recently 19 different independent nations. The structure could be cracked by passive resistance, slow-downs and non-cooperation."

"That would happen if our nation would today exert the same type of influence in the world that we exerted during the first century of the republic. At that time we symbolized freedom, and we gave moral and sometimes material support to those elsewhere who sought liberty."

The only alternative way to stop Soviet communism, he said, was by a "frightful head-on collision."

He said the Soviets traditionally believed the "road to victory in the West" lay through Asia, particularly China, and that non-Western and non-white peoples could not be treated as "second-class expendables" if the West wanted to survive in a free world.

The chief architect of the Japanese Peace Treaty said present foreign policy involved "race discrimination on a global scale" by concentrating on the defense of predominantly white Western Europe.

"That is a wrong policy and, in the face of the Soviet program of encirclement, it is a suicidal policy," he said. "It must be changed."

MacArthur Be On State Ballot

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The America First Party filed a slate of presidential electors with the secretary of state late yesterday to put General Douglas MacArthur on the November ballot for president.

The party's vice presidential candidate is Democratic Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

Yesterday's filing means MacArthur will be on the Missouri ballot as the candidate of two separate parties. The Christian Nationalist Party filed a slate of electors for him last week.

Airing In Tax Issue Helpful

Such Is Opinion of Rep. Keating on Probe of St. Louis Income Scandals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) said today he believes a House committee's airing of a 1951 St. Louis grand jury probe of income tax scandals will prove highly beneficial to the nation.

"Because of this committee," Keating told newsmen, "I don't think there will be ever again such an abuse of the public process as went on out there."

He referred to testimony heard yesterday by a judiciary subcommittee to the effect that some Justice Department officials tried to steer the grand jury to a "white-wash" report.

The group heard from four members of the grand jury—Henry J. Butler, foreman; Clinton L. Whittemore, deputy foreman; Collins P. Lovely and Mrs. Mary O. Messenger—and Marvin Hopper, who was an assistant U. S. attorney at the time.

Slack Yet to Appear
Yet to be heard is Ellis N. Slack, an acting assistant attorney general now in charge of the department's Tax Division. Slack, who had a hand in guiding the grand jury, is slated for testimony tomorrow. The committee doesn't meet today.

The former jurymen testified that at the start they were "schooled" in the way income tax cases were handled by revenue officials. They were given reasons why the government often closed cases because tax-payers had made voluntary disclosures of delinquencies or were aged or suffering physical disorders.

They said they also were convinced that once a tax case was closed, a grand jury couldn't dig into it. And after they looked over lists of tax cases that had been shelved, they accepted a suggestion by the district attorney, the late Drake Watson, to make a partial report.

Thought All Regular
Watson's assistants—Hopper and William Costello—actually wrote the report which vindicated the way in which tax matters had been handled under former collector James P. Finnegan.

The testimony showed that the jurors thought everything was in order, that the report met the approval of the Justice Department and was all right with the judge.

But district Judge George H. Moore wasn't pleased. He was "astonished" and told the jury so. In fact, he re-charged it and pushed it to new efforts. The result: a number of indictments, including one against Finnegan.

Finnegan later was convicted on two charges of misconduct in office. The case is on appeal.

One note of disagreement was struck during the hearing. Hopper said 85 per cent of the report came from notes kept by Whittemore.

Whittemore said he approved the report but it certainly didn't reflect the suggestions he turned over to Hopper. The committee impounded Whittemore's original notes, pending clearance from Judge Moore who had encouraged the jurymen to testify.

The other jurymen said they got the feeling early in the proceedings that Watson and his assistants were being directed by Washington officials.

Bombs Dropped On Red Front Line

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—U. N. warplanes roared into North Korea today in a follow-up of last night's heavy bombing of Communist supply depots near the Red capital of Pyongyang and in Northeast Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said swooping U. N. fighter-bombers dropped explosives on Red front-line installations then dived low and unloaded napalm burning jellies gasoline in support of Allied ground troops in the first clear weather in five days.

The U. S. Eighth Army said ground fighting was light and sporadic.

Seven B29 Superforts last night dumped 70 tons of high explosives on a Red supply area at Pyongyang.

The Superfort pilots reported moderate flak over the target, a 110-acre area containing many supply facilities.

Off to Paris for Jump by "Chute"

NEW YORK (AP)—Bernard MacFadden, publisher and physical culturist, is flying to Paris to make a parachute jump into the Seine River to celebrate his 84th birthday.

MacFadden, who was 84 Aug. 16, left here by plane yesterday. For the jump he took along red underwear, a life preserver and shoes with two-inch sponge soles.

He told newsmen at Idlewild Airport that he would make the jump — his third in three years — to prove that "getting old is a bad habit."

Blast Wrecks Apartments

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—A heavy explosion in an apartment building shook the uptown section of this Washington, D. C. suburb today. Police said they had a report that several were injured.

First reports were that the explosion occurred in the boiler room of the Abington Apartments.

The Washington Times-Herald said it had a report that the explosion blew out the basement walls and that the first and second stories collapsed.

A reporter from the Evening Star telephoned his city desk that four persons had been removed to a hospital and that he could hear what sounded like a baby crying from amid the wreckage.

Discussion on The Oil Crisis

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The American and British envoys here talked for three hours today with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh. It was the first time since the beginning of the Iranian oil crisis that the U. S. and British envoys went together to see the premier, and it raised speculation concerning an imminent break in the oil deadlock.

U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson and British Charge d'Affaires George Middleton appeared grim and made no statement when they emerged from the meeting with the nationalist premier. An American embassy spokesman said he could say only that the three men "discussed matters of common interest to the three countries."

There seemed little doubt that the presence of W. Alton Jones, head of the American Cities Service Oil Co., was among the subjects discussed. Reports in Iranian political circles said both Americans and British have been perturbed over Jones' visit, coming at the precise moment of a conditional offer by Mossadegh to resume oil talks with the British.

Initial Big Drive By Adlai

Communism Is Blasted as Gen. Ike Plans a Trip Into Ten States

By The Associated Press
Gov. Adlai Stevenson in effect launched his campaign today with a fighting speech that blasted communism as "the death of the soul" and called for a strong national defense.

The Democratic presidential nominee's address before the American Legion convention in New York was his first major address since his nomination, and touched off his initial big drive for votes in the East.

It temporarily took the political spotlight away from his political opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who spoke before the same convention two days ago and who today announced his first big campaign trip—a visit to 14 cities in 10 states, starting Sept. 2.

Patriotism Urged
The major theme of Stevenson's prepared address was patriotism, with a plea for freedom of thought, a warning to veterans not to exert too much pressure on him with "excessive" demands if he is elected, and a surprise, thinly veiled attack on Marshall as Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Wants Strong Defense
These were the highlights of Stevenson's speech:

1. The United States must build up a strong national defense. But its power should be used with restraint to promote freedom, justice and peace in the world.

2. Communism is a threat, but over-zealous patriots are threatening freedom of thought in their efforts to wipe it out. Communist activity cannot be stopped by "thought police." Do not, he said, "burn down the barn to kill the rats."

3. "We are rapidly becoming a nation of veterans" and "if we were all to claim a special reward... who would be left to pay?"

The attackers of Gen. George C. Marshall are hiding under a cloak of patriotism—"the last refuge of scoundrels."

McCarthy has accused Marshall, former secretary of state and former secretary of defense, of being party to a plot against the security of his own country. Stevenson said such an attack on Marshall was a "shocking example" of the type of "patriotism" he warned against.

Eisenhower's first major campaign tour will be launched with a Sept. 1 address in New York. The following day he heads south, with stops at most big cities in Dixie—an unorthodox beginning for a Republican presidential campaign.

Then he swings up through the Midwest, and returns to New York Sept. 10.

After two or three days in New York, aides said, he would begin an even longer whistle stop tour, the route of which has

Fair Poultry Show Biggest In Missouri

The 1952 Missouri State Fair Poultry Show was again the largest poultry show in the state for the year. In fact, it was 50 per cent larger than in 1951 with every available coop in use. This was the first time in some 15 years that all coops were in use.

The special attraction this year was the exhibits by the Heart of America Bantam Club. This club added nearly 200 bantams to the show.

The show, as for many years, was superintended by Noel M. Hall of Ozark, assisted by Mrs. Hall and a staff of experienced helpers. E. F. Barnard of Monroe City, placed all awards.

The birds were in excellent health and of very good quality. The egg show was not large, but of exceptionally good quality.

Two commercial exhibits by Bagby Poultry Farm and Swift & Co., were in the poultry building this year.

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. George celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, four miles north of Tipton, Sunday, Aug. 24, with open house from two to four o'clock.

Although the observance was held Sunday the exact date of the wedding was the 26th.

Among the more than 100 guests registered there were two of the original wedding party in attendance, Mrs. Wallace Richey, of Fayette, and Mrs. Elmer Scholl, of Clarksburg.

The home was attractively decorated with bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums which were gifts of relatives and friends.

Miss Patricia Potts was in charge of the many gifts.

Presiding at the punch table were Mrs. A. L. Peterson, Mrs. T. R. Lachner, Mrs. Albert Grooms and Mrs. Stanley Potts.

In charge of the guest register was Mrs. Helene Hood Ward, niece of Mrs. George.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. George in receiving were their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hood George, of Tipton, and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell George, of New Concord, Ohio.

Both Mr. and Mrs. George have been residents of this community their entire lives and since 1911 have lived on the same farm.

Mrs. George is 69. Her parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hood, her maiden name having been Miss Stella Hood.

The age of Mr. George is 77 and he is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Reuben George.

Mr. George has three brothers, Joe George, of Marshall, and Estil and Lewis George, both of Venita, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. George are members of the Presbyterian Church in which they take an active and influential part.

They are both in very good health and take an active interest in their farming operations.

Out-of-state guests included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ward, of Geneseo, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Harris Mayes, of Lovington, Ill., Misses Eleanor and Laura McClay, of Cincinnati, Ohio, Mrs. Martha Shortridge, Berkeley, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Swanner, Mercedes, Tex.

At the guests three couples had previously observed their golden wedding anniversaries, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Renshaw 1948, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Swanner 1947, and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Petty 1950.

Dinner Honors Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Stodgell, who were recently married, were honored at a dinner given Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stodgell, 901 South Sneed.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Stodgell, Mr. and Mrs. Will Martin, Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Busch, the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Stodgell, California, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Embury, Tipton, and the groom's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lunder, near Clarksburg.

Attend 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Purnell, 1601 East 10th, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Phillips, 807 East Ninth and Mrs. Orpha Akin, 1314 East Broadway attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ferguson on Sunday, Aug. 24, at California, Mo. They received many nice gifts.

The home was decorated throughout with large yellow chrysanthemums and roses.

Mrs. Ferguson is a sister of Mr. Purnell.

SHOW FOR CHAUFFEUR—Hollywood, Calif., pedestrians get a welcome treat on the city's streets when vivacious Perdita Chandler rides by on her chauffeur-driven motorcycle. Naturally, all the boys gawk at the stylish chrome exhaust pipe while the ladies guess at the brand of nylons that grace the shapely Miss Chandler's legs.

WRAPPED UP IN HER WORK—Long-letter writing is nothing new for Mrs. Evelyn Szczypka who wrote a 72-foot epistle to her husband, PFC Edward Szczypka, not long ago. Now hard at work starting another record-breaker, the 21-year-old Chicago girl also keeps up her usual turn-out of three normal-size letters per week to her soldier husband. She says she got the idea for super-letters after reading about a Marine who received one 50 feet long. "I knew I could do better than that," she says.

Home of Lon Stone Scene of Reunion

The Stephens family reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Stone.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Stephens, James Stephens, Mrs. Robert Stephens, Mendon, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bangs Come Back As Hair Style For Sedalians

Bangs, that flattering little touch to milady's tresses which so well covers the defects, if there are defects, or bring out her best features, are popular this fall.

Local beauty shops are having calls for bangs of various types and there has been a great deal of fun in several of the shops among the operators and the patrons about Mamie Eisenhower bangs. Mamie, the wife of the Republican candidate for president, goes in for bangs. She always has, and that seems to be the thing that the women have noticed most about her. One beauty shop has been cutting bangs like Mamie's for some time, but it was only after Mamie came into the limelight with her bangs that they have been jokingly calling them "Mamie Eisenhower bangs" and the customers have gone right along with them—they are going into the shop now and asking for bangs like Mamie's.

The type of bangs a woman should wear depends upon her age and her style. If she is young, the more circular her bangs, and the more youthful and feminine she looks. Of course the youngsters can wear them straight, too, or most anyway.

If she is older, she looks better with fewer bangs, short bangs, slightly curled bangs, and depending on her type, sophisticated bangs—and if she is a grandmother she may still wear bangs—Mamie does.

One beauty shop in Sedalia is cutting mostly French Fringe bangs, another curly bangs, some all kinds of bangs and some no bangs at all, but the fashion that is all the rage one season and not the next, but always worn to some extent, has been doing just that same thing for centuries.

The beauty operators who cut the bangs know their stuff, and they know just what kind of bangs will best suit their customer, if her forehead is too high or if it is too low, they know just what to do, they know the type bangs that will be most becoming to the features of their customers. Their skilled fingers snip, snip with the scissors in a manner that adds not only charm but style, for with that pair of scissors they create new personalities for those who leave their beauty in their hands.

Ex-Serviceman Visits Sedalians

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Carlson, and two daughters, Upton, Mass., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carlson, Auburn, Mass., spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Conn, 820 West Third. They left for their home Wednesday morning. During their visit here they attended the State Fair and visited the Ozark region and other scenic points of interest.

Mr. Carlson became acquainted with the Conn during the Second World War, while stationed at Sedalia Air Base.

A picnic supper was enjoyed Monday evening at Liberty Park in honor of Mr. Carlson's birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Conn's son, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Conn Jr., and family were also guests at the supper.

Shower Planned For Mrs. Wilcoxson

A kitchen shower will be given for Mrs. Mackey Wilcoxson, the former Miss Margaret Wiseman, at 8:30 p. m. Thursday at the Hughesville Baptist Church. Everyone is cordially invited.

Sgt. Stacy in Logistic Unit

WITH U. S. FORCES IN JAPAN —M/Sgt. John R. Stacy, whose wife, Betty Jo, and son live at 618 West Sixth, Sedalia, is now serving with the Japan Logistical Command in Yokohama.

The logistical unit handles supplies for the Army, Navy and Air Force in Korea, Japan and other parts of the Far East.

Now chief clerk in the Quartermasters Section of the command, Stacy entered the Army in 1940 and during World War II fought in five major European campaigns. He re-entered the Army in 1947.

The son of J. J. Stacy, 123 West Gay, Warrensburg, Mo., he attended Central Missouri State College in Warrensburg.

Back to Bunceton After a Long Trip

The Rev. and Mrs. Carl Burkhardt Jr. and children, Bunceton, have returned after visiting relatives and friends in Illinois, Minnesota, South Dakota and Wyoming. Interesting places visited were: the Museum of Science and Industry and Adler Planetarium in Chicago, Mount Rushmore and Medicine National Park. They visited his sister, Mrs. Louis Nelson and family in Owatonna, Minn., the Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Wieser, Parkton, S. D., and an aunt, Miss Reba Craven near Continental, Wyo. They also met a fellow Cooper Mountain, Larry Sanders, who formerly lived in Boonville.

Home From Fishing Trip

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Steele and Mr. and Mrs. Louis V. Igo have just returned from a ten day vacation spent in Spicer, Minn. They report that fishing was good, they had a nice catch and a nice trip.

Try to Turn The Tables on Sec. Brannan

Attack by Leaders
In GOP Made on
1949 Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are trying to turn the tables on Secretary of Agriculture Brannan this presidential campaign year.

Four years ago the Democratic farm chief made the Republican-controlled 80th Congress a target in the important Midwestern farm belt on the basis of its farm legislation. Brannan's campaign was credited by the Democrats with playing a major role in President Truman's upset victory over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The 1948 farm issue centered largely on action of the GOP Congress in restricting the government's power to store farm products.

This year, the Republicans have got off to an early start in attacking Brannan. Their guns are being pointed at a controversial farm plan he advanced in 1949 and on a contention that his successful 1948 campaign was based upon misrepresentation.

The GOP claims that the Brannan farm plan—which would expand the government's power to control farm production and make broad use of subsidies to keep farmers prosperous—would regiment agriculture. But Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee, has sought to toss the Brannan plan aside with the statement that it is not recommended by him.

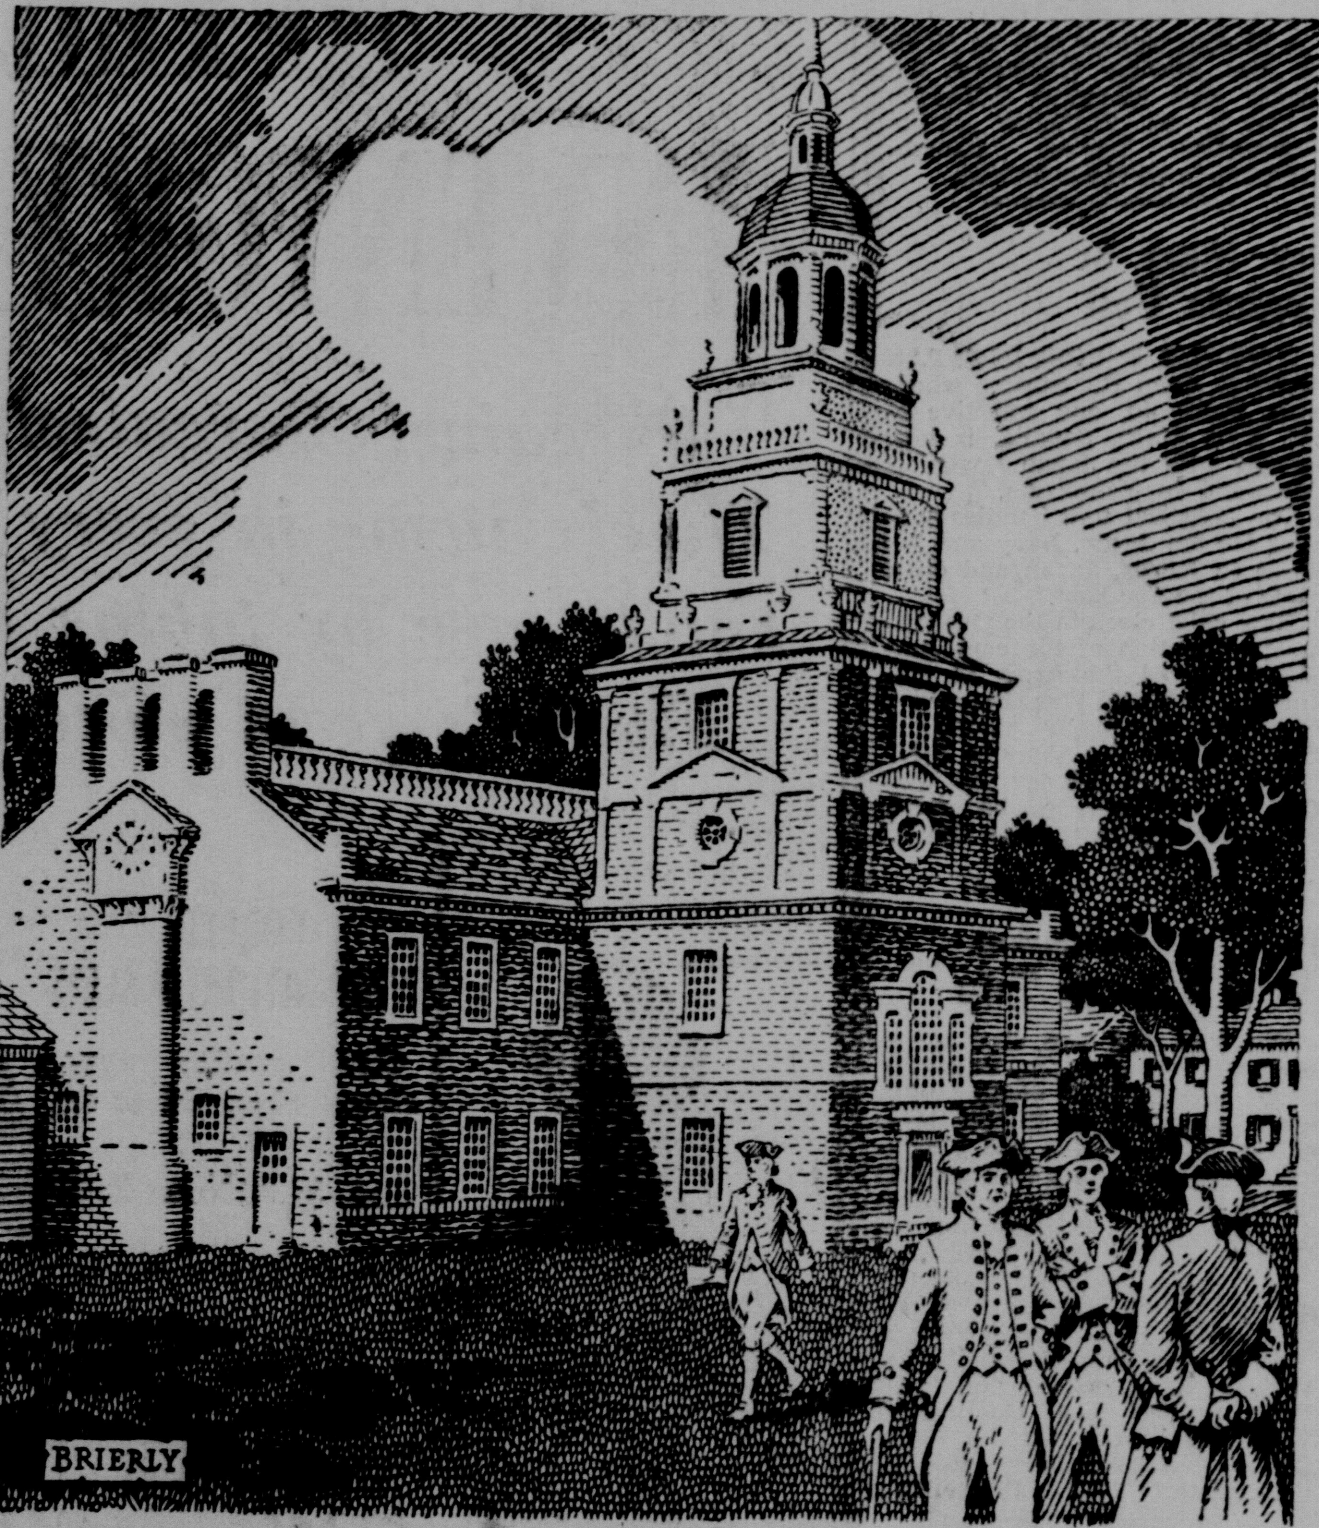

More attention is being paid to charges made by several Republican leaders that the 1948 Democratic victory in the farm belt was gained by a trumped-up issue. These claims have been made by Gov. Dewey, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont and Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware.

By mid-summer of 1948, it was quite apparent that bumper crops were being produced. Secretary Brannan came out with statements that there was a shortage of storage space for wheat, corn and other grains. He said the government's price support programs for the grains would not be effective because of a storage shortage.

Under the support program, farmers could get loans at the price support rates provided their grain was stored in acceptable facilities, either commercial or on the farm. This meant, Brannan said, that the farmer who could not get storage would have to accept whatever price he could get in the market.

The Agriculture Department could have helped such farmers, the secretary said, had it not been for the 80th Congress, which

1734. OLD STATE HOUSE, Independence Hall, Philadelphia

AP Newsfeatures

ON JULY 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was signed in this building. It sets a pattern for self-government which would be followed by many nations throughout the civilized world.

This venerable edifice was then called the State House and the Declaration was signed in the East Room, henceforth, "Independence Hall." On the outside west wall, there was a large town clock. There was no clock in the wooden steeple, surmounting the building. This steeple, being considered unsound, was later removed. The vacant place was roofed over and topped by a steeple, just large enough to accommodate the bell.

The old State House, completed in 1734, was started in 1729, and co-incidentally, just a century later, 1829, the steeple, a replica of the original, with clock faces added, was erected.

deprived the government of authority to build, erect and own storage facilities.

The fact that the 80th Congress took away this storage authority, Brannan claimed, was proof that Republicans would, if given a chance, weaken and destroy farm aid programs.

At the time, the Republicans largely ignored the Brannan campaign. However, Dewey, Aiken and Williams have come forward this year with the claim that Brannan deliberately took steps to cause farm prices to fall in 1948 with the idea of trying to fasten responsibility on the GOP for campaign purposes.

They contend there is no evidence that there was an actual shortage of storage space that year.

Defense Pact Put Into Effect Today

MANILA (AP)—The United States-Philippines Mutual Defense Pact was put into effect today, but U. S. Ambassador Raymond Spruance made it clear the U. S. originally intended that Pacific security agreements follow approval of the Japanese Peace Treaty.

Acceptance of the peace pact by the Philippines was blocked in the Senate by the opposition Nacionalista party.

At ceremonies during which the two nations exchanged instruments of ratification, Spruance said the United States had wanted re-establishment of relations with Japan as a prerequisite to creation of a system of regional security in the Pacific.

"However, as the United States does not desire that there be any doubt as to the reality of its intention to regard aggression against the Philippines as a menace to its own peace and safety, I've been directed to proceed with this exchange of ratifications today," Spruance declared.

They say there are no reports of any unusual amount of grain going to waste because of inadequate storage and care.

The Republicans also contend that Brannan's talk of a storage shortage, had the effect of depressing prices. They further claim that he failed to take other steps permitted by law to halt price declines.

Marriage Licenses Usually Used When Issued in Sedalia

Sedalia seems to be a happy place for young and old lovers alike. The climate or the atmosphere around Sedalia seems to provide some stimulus for couples about to be married and only one couple within the past year has failed to use a marriage license after making application.

This couple, however, was not from Sedalia. And 1951 was just about as healthy as far as marriages were concerned and only two couples backed out after applying for licenses.

Each year marriages have increased in our community. In the past 100 years marriages have jumped from an average of 50 to 350 and the exact number of marriages in 1852, which was 57, has been equalled in one month during 1952.

So cupid has found Sedalia more to his liking each year and each arrow he shoots has been pointing to the County Recorder's office, where his "victims" have applied for licenses.

Women's Democratic Club To Meet Thursday

Reds Kill Fellow-Worker

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Four "weekend" Chinese terrorists—tappers on an estate—were hanged for murdering a compatriot who refused to join the Communist Party.

The four Reds said they killed him on orders from their Communist Party cell. They laid in wait for him in a jungle path and "kicked him to death."

WATER STAY 'WAY FROM OUR DOOR—Women push water away from a flooded store doorway in Plymouth, one of many English coastal cities flooded by torrential rains. In England's most disastrous floods in a century, at least 41 persons were drowned and 28 others missing and presumed dead. More than 3000 persons were left homeless, with property damage nearly $20 million.

No Fuel Like Old Fuel, And Women Out Fuel All the Males

NEW YORK (P)—The reason women get more things done than men is that they know better how to make a fuel of themselves.

There is no fuel like an old fuel, and the oldest and best fuel isn't wood, coal or oil. It is anger—plain old anger.

Notice how a woman operates. If she has a distasteful job to do, the first thing she does is get all steamed up about it. Let us suppose the chore her conscience tells her she should be doing is her semi-annual housecleaning. A man faced with this task says, "I ought to tidy up this joint, and I will, one of these days, but I feel awful tired today." And he doesn't get around to shoveling out the debris until it threatens to smother him.

But a woman says, "I hate the way this place looks." She is angry at it, the anger gives her energy, and soon the dust and furniture are flying. By the time her anger is worn out, she can collapse on a spick-and-span couch in a house that is shiny-bright.

That is why men are secretly afraid of women—because of the power of anger they have. Few obstacles can stand before the flaming energy of a wrathful lady at peak cry.

A wise man, however, can exercise some influence over a woman if he cunningly learns to channel her ire in the right direction. Instead of coaxing her to do something he wants, he might find it better to make her so mad she can't help doing it in spite of herself.

A friend of mine worked this ruse successfully in getting his wife to pack her suit case in time to catch a train for their vacation trip.

He pulled out his watch and pointed at it. She dawdled. He pleaded. She dawdled. He begged. She yawned. Finally, he picked up one of her favorite dresses and said:

"Well, I forbid you to take this along. It makes you look like Queen Victoria on a picnic."

"Oh, it does?" she snarled. "I'll wear what I want to, smarty!"

In a tempestuous burst of energy, she packed the suitcase, snapped it shut. They caught the train.

"As a matter of fact, she was so angry she wouldn't speak to me for a week—but is that altogether bad?" recalled the husband. "But I learned a lesson: If you want to get a wife anywhere on time, first get her mad. Ruffle her feathers, then smooth them out later."

That is sound psychology, up to a point. Of course some wives, when they get mad, just go into another room and lock the door. No rule works with all of them.

And, of course, it usually works the other way. A woman uses her anger to whammy a man into obeying her whim. Many a fellow is prodded into success in life only because of the long slow burn of his wife over the fact the husband next door is getting ahead faster. Her wrath feeds his will, and he rises in the world on borrowed fuel.

There is another inner fuel, as old as anger. It is called fear. Anger is a fighting fuel, fear is the fuel for running away. You need both to live.

I may be a traitor to my sex, but it seems to me that women keep these two fuels in better balance than men. They are less likely to be overwhelmed by either. They know better when to be angrily brave, when to be cautiously afraid.

But, man or woman, nobody ever became a star in the human race until he learned how to make the right kind of fuel of himself.

END OF THE LINE—Oakland, California's street car conductor, Francis H. Van Wie, above, known as the "Ding Dong Daddy" of the trolley line, gets a fond farewell from the cast of the burlesque house where he was working when police handed him an arrest warrant in the middle of his act. Police authorities say that the 66-year-old Romeo has allegedly gone to the altar 16 times without getting 15 divorces. He was booked on two bigamy charges.

Caller's Image to TV Telephone

LONDON (P)—The "Sorry, dear, but I'm working late at the office" dodge may be on the way out—TV-telephone has arrived.

The "I can see you" phone—latest invention of British radio engineers—is a surprise exhibit at London's annual radio show, which opened today.

The caller's image is shown on a television screen at the other end of the circuit, and the caller similarly can see the party on the other end on a television screen in front of him.

A spokesman for the phone makers said it was hoped that TV-telephone would be installed on the New York-London transatlantic line before long.

"It would be invaluable for high-level inter - governmental talks when people speaking must be certain of each other's identity," he suggested.

But the TV-phone won't be invading the home.

Mrs. Cramer Is Vice-Chairman

Mrs. Walter C. Cramer, 701 West Fourth, vice-chairman of the Pettis County Democratic Central Committee, was elected vice-chairman of the 11th Congressional District at the district meeting held in Jefferson City Tuesday. Wade Maupin, Carrollton, chairman of the Carroll County Committee, was elected chairman of the district committee.

Mrs. Doris Topper, Versailles, was elected secretary and Sam Pikey, Camden, treasurer.

Wilbur F. Daniels of Fayette, scheduled to be the new chairman of the State Democratic Committee, was elected along with Richard R. Nacy, Jefferson City, as state committee members. Mrs. Marie Jones of Backburn and Mrs. John E. Lynch of Moberly were elected as the women members of the state committee.

All were elected unanimously and without a sign of opposition.

The Eleventh District as designated by the Legislature during the redistricting of Missouri last winter, consists of 14 counties from the old Second District, with Pettis County from the old Sixth, Dallas from the old Seventh and Laclede from the old Eighth being added. Lafayette County of the old Second was taken off and placed into the new Fourth.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Euphemia H. Page
Mrs. Euphemia H. Page, 85, 623 East 13th, died at Bothwell Hospital at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday. Mrs. Page fell at her home Friday and fractured her hip.

She was born Nov. 5, 1866, at Bellaire, Ohio.

On Sept. 29, 1892 she married Heber Page in Sedalia. Mr. Page died July 15, 1947.

Mrs. Page was a member of the Calvary Episcopal Church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Wilbur S. Elliott, Dallas; a sister, Miss May Higleyman, Sedalia, with whom she had made her home for the past two years; and a granddaughter, Mrs. E. V. Meyerding, Keosauqua, Iowa, Miss.

The body is at the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at the Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. Edward Sims, rector of the Calvary Episcopal Church, to officiate.

Pallbearers will be Will Brown, Bryan Howe, John Pelham, Frank Coffman, Sr., T. W. Aulgur and Ralph Morgan.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Joseph Heidler
Joseph Heidler, 86, died Tuesday morning at his home in Warrensburg.

Mr. Heidler was born Feb. 22, 1866, in Germany. He came to this country with his parents at the age of one. Both his parents died shortly after the trip.

He came to Johnson County at the age of 18 and spent his entire life there engaged in farming.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nettie Heidler of the home; two daughters, Mrs. E. F. Livengood, Sedalia, and Mrs. George Smith, Centerville; and one son, Clyde Heidler, of Osceola.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Brauninger Funeral Home in Warrensburg. Dr. Earl Harding, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Warrensburg, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Knob Noster Cemetery.

Funeral of F. P. Pettit
Funeral services for Frank Pope Pettit, who died Friday, Aug. 22, at the home of his son, Roy Pettit, near Nelson, were held Sunday afternoon at Miller's Chapel with the Rev. Ira W. Griffith officiating.

He was born Feb. 27, 1871, at Arrow Rock, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Pettit. He was united in marriage to Miss Eliza Reese, who preceded him in death.

To this union five children were born with only one living, Harry Pettit, Independence. In later years he married Miss Minnie Biggs and three children were born to this union: Clyde Pettit, Blackwater, Mrs. Opal Dingman, Columbia and Roy Pettit, Nelson.

Also surviving are one brother, Ed Pettit, Nelson, eight grandchildren, four great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were: Albert Taylor, Freddie Taylor, Franklin Taylor, Charlie Hooper, George Martin and Roy Jeffries.

Burial was in the church cemetery.

Marion E. Reed
Marion E. Reed, 81, former Sedalia, died at Nevada, Mo., Sunday night a short time after he suffered a heart attack.

Mr. Reed is survived by one son, Ralph Reed, Litchfield, Ill., who will arrive in Sedalia this afternoon.

The Ewing funeral coach went to Nevada to return the body to Sedalia Tuesday evening. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Funeral of George M. Stober
Funeral services for George M. Stober, 82, who died at the Bothwell Hospital Monday morning, were held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. today.

Rev. Lee E. Soxman, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist Church, officiated.

Mrs. W. L. Lewis and Mrs. C. D. Demand sang, "Going Down the Valley" and "Life's Railway to Heaven" accompanied by Mrs. Mae Moser at the organ.

Six nephews served as pallbearers: Orville Cameron, Glen Warbritton, Gus Romig, Charles Romig, John Zuhn and Ned Sims. Interment was in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

Hubert Dyer
Hubert Dyer of Watsonville, Calif., died there Aug. 26, according to a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dyer of Warsaw, who with his brother, Clyde, and his wife, have gone to Watsonville to attend the funeral.

Mr. Dyer was born Nov. 19, 1891, at Weaubleau, Mo., and he moved with his parents to La Monte when he was a small child. He was educated in the La Monte schools and was graduated from the high school. He attended Central Business College in Sedalia and later was employed in the Kansas City post office. His health failed and he went from there to Shellie, Idaho, where he improved and he was employed for several years. In Idaho he married and he and his wife later moved to California where they were residing at the time of his death.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, two daughters, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dyer of Warsaw, formerly of La Monte; three brothers, Clyde Dyer, Warsaw; Homer Dyer, Shellie, Idaho; and Walter Dyer, El Paso, Tex., and the following aunts and uncles: Mrs. Neal Kindle and John Dyer of La Monte, Mrs. Grace Funnell and J. Gov. Stevenson Is Accorded Big Ovation

Says Attacks on Marshall Are a "Shocking" Incident

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson, democratic presidential nominee, told the American Legion convention today Republican attacks on Gen. George C. Marshall were a "shocking example" of misplaced patriotism.

He termed a "shocking example" the "attacks which have been made on the loyalty and motives of our great wartime chief of staff, General Marshall."

"To me," said Stevenson, "this is the type of patriotism which is in Dr. Johnson's phrase, the last refuge of scoundrels."

He appeared on the same platform here, two days ago, his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, addressed the Legion.

Today, as it was when Eisenhower spoke, the 20,000-seat Madison Square Garden was not filled. The attendance, in fact, appeared to be smaller than it was for Eisenhower.

The ovation for Stevenson, however, sounded as enthusiastic and lasted as long as the reception given Eisenhower. The audience sang in a standing ovation, waving state banners when the governor entered the garden. The Legionnaires cheered again when National Commander Donald R. Wilson of Clarksburg, W. Va., introduced him.

Stevenson arrived by plane from Springfield, Ill., only a couple of hours before speaking. He had lunch at a hotel before going to Madison Square Garden.

Shortly before he arrived at the convention the Legion approved a report from its Foreign Relations Committee demanding that President Truman immediately fire Secretary of State Dean Acheson and "those in his department found wanting in the proper activation of their duty to this country."

Stevenson was interrupted frequently by applause. He received his greatest reaction when he mentioned the attacks on General Marshall. At that point an explosion of clapping and cheers halted him for several seconds.

Resist Pressure
The Legionnaires even applauded when he notified them that he would resist pressure from all organized groups, including their own if he considered them in conflict with the general public interest.

The Democratic presidential nominee did not use any names but he left no doubt that one of the main targets of his bitter blast was Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy, who is a Wisconsin—one-time recipient of an American Legion award for Americanism.

McCarthy has accused Marshall, former secretary of state and former secretary of defense, of being party to a plot against the security of his own country.

Stevenson launched his surprise statement in a speech written for the American Legion convention meeting in Madison Square Garden, where GOP presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke only two days ago.

Also, Stevenson figuratively wagged a finger under the Legion's nose and told them he would not submit to an ypression from the Legion if he thought their demands were "excessive or in conflict with the public interest."

It was a fighting speech with patriotism as the theme and through it ran a plea to defend freedom of thought in the fight against communism.

Stevenson assailed communism as "the death of the soul" but he added freedom of thought is being menaced by over-zealous patriots.

He called for a strong national defense and the restrained use of America's power to promote freedom, justice and peace in the world.

He told Legionnaires patriotism "is not short, frenzied outburst of emotion, but the tranquil and steady dedication of a lifetime."

Then in his first major drive for votes in the East, Stevenson said there are men among us "who use 'patriotism' as a club for attacking other Americans."

He continued: "What can we say for the man who proclaims himself a patriot—and then for political or personal reasons attacks the patriotism of faithful public servants?"

"I give you, as a shocking example, the attacks which have been made on the loyalty and the motives of our great wartime chief of staff, Gen. Marshall."

"To me this is the type of 'patriotism' which is, in Dr. Johnson's phrase, the last refuge of scoundrels."

The Legion speech was the opening gun in Stevenson's big bid for Eastern support in the November election—and it was to be followed by a busy round of speeches and political confabs in New York and New Jersey.

Last night at his Springfield, Ill., headquarters, he was announced Stevenson will begin a 7,600-mile tour Sept. 5 which will carry him into nine Western states.

Stevenson made only one reference in his speech to Eisenhower. He said: "The fact that a great general and I are competing candidates for the presidency will not diminish my warm respect for his military achievements. Nor will that respect keep me from using every honest effort to defeat him in November."

Stevenson praised the Legion for its fight to awaken America to the need of military preparedness—and he said this fight largely is won. But he warned there are other tasks we need not neglect.

"It is our high task," he said, "to use our power with the self-restraint that goes with confident strength. The purpose of our power must never be lost in the fact of our power—and the purpose, I take it, is the promotion of freedom, justice and peace in the world."

And then turning to the theme of patriotism, Stevenson brought up the subject of pressure tactics.

He said: "Consider the groups who seek to identify their special interests with the general welfare."

Reception for Governors
That evening there was a reception for both Gov. Arn and Gov. Smith in the airplane hangar on the airfield. Both governors attended with their parties and spent the remainder of the evening meeting the various officers and newsmen at the camp.

After leaving the reception I went to the sleeping quarters of the 35th Headquarters where I spent the night in a tent with several other Sedalians.

Several morning we received word that our plane would not take off until the afternoon so we planned the morning so that we could take in the mass review which was held for the governors and the air show.

Sedalians Take Part in Great Parade Given for Governors

By Robert Van Horn
Friday afternoon Cpl. Bail and I had our driver take us to the tank field, where we took a ride in an M-4 tank, which is medium sized vehicle with 500-horsepower Ford engines. The tank weighs 43 tons.

During the ride we hit a top speed of 32 miles per hour, while driving over sand roads and the tank testing grounds. The tank driver equipped us with a pair of headphones, so we could hear the conversation between him and the top turret man.

See Governors Arrive
After the tank ride we went back to the base air field where Gov. Forrest Smith arrived. Included in the governor's party was Gen. Ralph "Snappy" Truman, a cousin of the President, who looks amazingly like his famous cousin. We were told that Gen. Truman was the commander of the 35th Division when it went into active duty in 1941.

Soon after Gov. Smith landed, Gov. Edward Arn of Kansas arrived and the same tribute was paid to him as he viewed the troops and received a 19-gun salute.

From all the pomp and ceremony of the reception for the governors, we went back to the drill fields where we entered a restricted area to watch the firing of a 3.2 rocket gun which is similar to a bazooka. The gun has a maximum range of 900 yards and is used for knocking out tanks.

Visits Sedalia Men
After leaving the firing range we stopped for a short visit at the 128th Airborne Division, which is a regiment from Sedalia. All the men were out on the firing range and were evidently working hard in the midst of the two-week training period.

During the visit at Camp Ripley we spent part of the time in the adjutant general's office, where Lt. Col. Blue has his office. Most of the office staff is composed of Sedalia men. Those who work in Chicago, Ill., are: Sgt. Meyer, who is the sergeant major of the division, in charge of enlisted men in the office crew; Sgt. Gerhardt Jager, who is a section chief in charge of morning reports; Sgt. James W. Atkins, in charge of the distribution section; Sgt. Lester Harrell, typist; Charles G. Iuchs, publications; Henry L. Iuchs, morning reports; Harold Yeager, section head of the typing pool; Darrell Bell, distribution; Milton Chamberlain, typist; Alvin Gamber Jr., morning reports; Louis Staples, morning reports; Donald Zumsteg, morning reports; Robert Forsyth, distributions and publications; Billy Schilb, typist; Hubert Burford Jr., distribution, and Bob Lane, typist.

Hal Boyle's Column—

Moving Back Few Centuries Would Cause Undue Concern

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Ever pine to live in the days of old, when knights were bold, and the telephone was not invented?
Those times seem glamorous and adventurous, as portrayed by Hollywood in such film epics as "Ivanhoe," based on Sir Walter Scott's famous tale.
But a 20th Century man, suddenly removed to the heyday of this 12th Century, metal-plated Hoptalong Cassidy, would find the going a little rough for his tastes. The modern girl would miss a few comforts, too.
And as for Emily Post? . . . Shudder . . . shudder . . . shudder. There were no such niceties as present day forks and spoons. You hacked off slabs of meat with crude knives and ate by hand. Utensils were rarely washed.
A husband coming home from the grocery store today is no such beast of burden as a knight faring forth to battle. His combat gear weighed 120 pounds, eight times the weight of the plastic body armor a marine now wears in Korea.
And buying a horse and suit of armor then was more expensive than it is now to purchase a Rolls Royce and a tailored sport jacket. A coat-of-mail—made by hand of tiny mesh rings—took one man four to five months to complete. And you only got one fitting.
It was hard to be a Horatio Alger hero. The best way for a poor lad to escape lifelong economic bondage was to become a priest or a knight.
To become a knight a boy had to be placed in the household of a nobleman as a page at the age of 12. At 16, if he made the grade, he became a squire, or shield-bearer to a knight. And the final honor of knighthood—at the age of 21 or later—could be conferred only by another knight, a priest, or by royal edict.
It was no job for a juvenile delinquent. A knight found guilty of dishonorable conduct received no second chance. He sat on a raised platform, while six priests on each side intoned the "vigil of the dead." After each psalm a herald stripped away a piece of armor. Then a bucket of filthy water was poured over the ex-knight's head, and he was publicly executed.
There was no parole system for ordinary criminals either. A common form of punishment was "the judgment of God"—the pouring of molten metal into the miscreant's ear. You could get this for stealing a handkerchief.
You think taxes are tough today? In those days the tax collector assessed you not on the basis of what you said you were worth, but what your neighbors said. As they were all in the same boat, however, some of the people were real neighbors on this point.
Highways are dangerous enough now, but then they were so outlaw-infested that even a lord dare not ride from his castle at night except with an armed bodyguard. And while the moats were a great protection against enemies they also bred a lot of typhoid.
To get your rights you couldn't call a cop. You had to fight for them under arms. But ladies, priests and persons under 21 weren't allowed to fight. They hired professional knights, known as "puggies."

To be a knight wasn't easy. You were supposed to have a knowledge of music, dancing, penmanship, drawing, horsemanship, the use of all standard weapons, and a mastery of the art of carving a side of beef at a banquet. (The last requirement explains the current shortage of knights in rationed Britain.)
Medieval ladies often made vows never to undress or bathe until the lord of the manor returned from a journey. One wife kept this pledge for seven years while her knight was off on a crusade.
You can see now why knighthood died out. How would you like to come home to a dame like that?

BACIGRO FOR PIGS

For Greater Weight at Weaning Time. Low Cost. Easy to Use.

Most farmers are acquainted with antibiotics to stimulate growth of pigs after weaning. Either by using a commercial feed that contains antibiotic or by mixing their own feed and adding antibiotics to stimulate growth. NOW we have a pellet that is to be implanted under the loose skin behind the ear of pigs that are from two to five days old. These small pellets are effective in growth stimulation until the pigs are weaned and receive the benefit of a controlled nutrient feed. There are just three easy steps in using these pellets. First, load the instrument with the Bacigro. Second, grasp the loose skin behind the ear between the thumb and forefinger and force the point of the implanter through the skin. Third, inject the pellet about one inch under the skin and remove implanter. What's next? A combination of Dihydrostreptomycin and Penicillin for animals is one of them.

Odds and Ends

Two years ago a man here from Thomasville, Ga., was here visiting his sister and took her car back with him, leaving his never and better one here for her.

When he arrived home with it, the 11 year old boy in the family noticed that a maple tree had sprouted in the mud on the running board of the car and was about five inches high. He took the piece of mud and the tiny tree off the running board and planted it in his yard.

This year when they came to the Fair they told the story of the little maple tree that the woman did not know was even on her running board. The tree is almost as tall now as the boy who planted it and he has added a few inches since then, too, for now he is 13.—H. L.

It wasn't funny when the tornado hit the southwest part of Sedalia early Thursday morning, but there were plenty of funny situations in the homes in that district.

One woman had rented a front room of her home to a man and his son and a back room to two women. When the storm broke the two women got their windows down, but they had not been able to get their storm windows down, so they called the woman of the home and asked her to help them. She put down the storm windows for them and then, realizing the man in the front room might not know how to get his windows down either, went running into his room.

The man was surprised and embarrassed—he had on only his undershirt and shorts and was not used to having women seeing him so scantily attired so he ran for cover—and the only thing he saw handy was the very sheer marquisette curtain at the window. He never realized that he could be seen as well behind the curtain as in front of it, but the woman could hardly wait until she got out of the room to laugh. Because her husband was a little deaf and slept all through the storm, she had to wait until morning to share the story. However, she has been telling it ever since and every time she tells it it gets funnier standing there behind that thin curtain.—H. L.

"Well," said a young man stationed at the Sedalia Air Force Base, "At the place where I was before I came to Sedalia they told me if I got a boat I could get a wife—but I got the boat, but I didn't get the wife."

"Then when I came here," he continued, "they told me if I would get a convertible I could get a wife—but I got the convertible and still no wife. Now they tell me if I buy a house I can get a wife—so I bought a house—and still don't have a wife."

Now he asks the Chamber of Commerce what they can do about it—but the Chamber of Commerce gives up on that one—the kind of a wife he wants just doesn't exist.—H. L.

But when the right girl comes along he won't need the boat, the convertible, the house—nor even the help of the Chamber of Commerce—she can be a flop as far as face, figure and intelligence are concerned—she will be what every man expects a blind date to look like and be like—but he will love her just the same. Funny how perfect they have to be until the right one comes along and then

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. E. A. White, director of the national committee on the relation of electricity to agriculture, gave an address at the Missouri State Fair on "Possibility of Electric Service to the Farmers." He was regarded as one of the highest authorities on its application to agriculture.

—1927—
Earle R. Wade, of Kansas City Daily Drovers' Telegram, a former Pettis Countyman, was here visiting relatives and on business.

—1927—
Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, and H. A. Wilson, state veterinarian, both of Jefferson City, made talks to the boys attending the Boys' State Fair School.

—1927—
State Representative Clem Jones was host to about eight guests, a large number of them state legislators, at a dinner at Hotel Liberty.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Ellis R. Smith, real estate dealer and agent, was injured when his horse, in pawing to get free from his rider, struck him above the right eye.

—1912—
Membership in the Pettis County Bureau of Agriculture was fixed at $1 a year. Its officers were: L. M. Monsees, president; W. E. Files, first vice-president; N. E. Gentry, second vice-president; W. W. Barrett, treasurer; S. M. Jordan, manager; M. V. Carroll, secretary.

—1912—
Secretary John T. Stinson, of the Missouri State Fair, and its president, W. A. Dellmeyer, the latter of Jefferson City, left for Des Moines to attend the Iowa State Fair.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round Civil Aeronautics Agents Maintain Flight Safety

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

(NOTE TO EDITORS: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being Charles F. Horne, Civil Aeronautics Administrator U. S. Department of Commerce.)

WASHINGTON — It's late on a dark and stormy night. The place, an airport at Paris, Rome, Cairo or in the Far East. Passengers are watching the wind and rain beat against the windows of the airplane when they notice the stewardess unlock the door to the pilot's compartment and a man in a business suit enter. He sits on the "jump seat," and as the plane takes off, checks all phases of the flight to determine whether safety standards for operation and maintenance of U. S. flag carriers are being observed.

In aircraft plants throughout the United States, other ACC safety agents constantly inspect the equipment to determine whether they meet the safety specifications set by the CAA.

A year ago, artillery-shell fire struck the U. S. embassy in Bangkok, Thailand, as insurgent naval officers revolted and attempted to establish a new government. In the hostilities which followed there were approximately 3,000 casualties and the U. S. embassy was struck four times by artillery-shell fire and about 100 times by small-arms fire. All normal communications were cut off and the stand-by generator at the embassy would not work. U. S. commercial aircraft were en route to the Thailand, and there was no way either to warn them off or to notify the Department of State and military authorities in Washington.

The head of the CAA International region office in Bangkok made a dramatic night dash under fire through the front lines of the opposing forces to an aeronautical radio station which was situated within the Thai naval compound. Although stopped and forced to leave his vehicle, the CAA representative managed to talk his way into the radio station. There he warned off and diverted all U. S. commercial aircraft, and transmitted the first word of the uprising to reach the outside world.

Saving Lives
It is rarely, of course, that CAA personnel have to operate under gunfire, but they do cope with an amazing variety of emergencies in order to make flying the routinely safe experience it is for the average American in flight-testing the competency of applications for airman certificates, CAA safety agents frequently must cut one of an airplane's two engines, to see whether the pilot reacts promptly and correctly. If he does, he gets the CAA certificate which is an assurance of safety to the public. If he doesn't the CAA agent has to move fast to save his neck.

Reports in the files show that in 23 test incidents, quick thinking by CAA safety agents saved almost half a million dollars worth of airplanes and the lives of 60 persons. A typical, terse report is that on case 8-120-0:

"Air transport rating applicant in DC-3. Making low approach with left engine out. Over airport and applicant started turn to left. Suddenly changed mind and rolled aircraft rapidly into an R turn. Airplane spun to right. Coordinated efforts of company check pilot and agent stopped spin and recovered. Barograph in airplane showed recovery was 50 feet above level of airport."

A majority of the CAA "saves," however, are flying shows that the man the CAA represents, who has more than 70,000 mile network of federal airways. From their posts in communications stations, control towers and control centers, they have "talked down" hundreds of lost pilots. Although the highways of the sky are clearly marked by CAA radio beams, every now and then some pilot will become confused.

Then CAA communicators or controllers go to work as they did when a night-flying National Guard pilot contacted our Major, Mich.

con, Ga., radio during a thunderstorm and reported his position unknown. The communicator thought of the searchlight used to advertise a drive-in theatre. He asked the operator to leave the searchlight on. The pilot finally saw the beam, determined his position, and proceeded to a safe landing.

All branches of the military depend heavily on CAA services, particularly on its air navigation and traffic control facilities which for the last four years, have been improved and operated under a "common system" concept. Thus, the air defense command uses information obtained and correlated by CAA to identify friendly aircraft flying in coastal and border defense zones, so that it can "scramble" interceptors against unidentified targets appearing on radar or reported by ground observers.

Cedar Rapids Emergency
On the civil defense side, CAA has worked closely with state and local officials to plan for the effective use of smaller airplanes. How these can be marshalled in an emergency was demonstrated at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where 309 private airplanes hauled 110,000 pounds of simulated supplies into the "stricken" city within two hours after a mock attack. While we all pray that this type of disaster will not occur, it is good to know that airplanes can and do perform flying in mercy missions when midwestern rivers overflow or when areas of the northwest are isolated by a blizzard.

The airplane has an important humanitarian role to play in our world relations, too, and CAA is proud to have participated in one of its first such demonstrations. When locusts threatened the food supplies of Iran in 1951, CAA experts assisted the Department of State in rushing two four-engine planes, one loaded with small spray planes, the other with pilots and spray liquid, to the endangering area. They beat off the insect plague, and set a pattern which promises to help wipe out hunger, and thereby remove a major cause of wars.

But while CAA activities overseas tend to be more spectacular, witness the recent episode involving our safety agents who worked with the Cab and the Brazilian government to investigate an accident in the heart of the jungle—the day-to-day activities of CAA people are concerned more with the safety of the 23,000,000 passengers who ride our domestic airlines and the people who fly our 60,000 civil air craft.

Any time of day or night you are likely to see a CAA safety agent board an airliner in the United States, and make the same kind of "en route" inspection that is conducted on our carriers abroad.

Patrol Pilots
At the same time, CAA "range riders of the sky," more prosaically described as airways patrol pilots, may be check-flying the courses of a radio range, or the accuracy of instrument landing radio beam, to make sure that all pilots can follow them with confidence. Three of these range riders gave their lives in 1948, when they crashed into mountains near Ward, Colorado, apparently as a result of extreme turbulence in the area.

But it is because of their work and the work of other CAA employees that United States civil aviation has been able to set world records for safety. You can board an airliner today with less risk than you can drive your car, thanks to the teamwork of government and industry in the field of civil aviation.

Project Pygmalion

By Grey MacMillan

Copyright 1952 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Hector Fielding, an art instructor, has formed a curious friendship with a truck driver named David Carlson, who is interested in photography. David, a naturally intelligent young man, has never had an education and Hector sets for him the task of making over David. Hector believes he must have a "project" in order to forget an unfortunate love affair.

AFTER this David began to drop in frequently—at first two or three times a week and gradually oftener still—sometimes every night. In the beginning he used to say, "Each time, 'Don't wanna bother you, but I finished this book, and I was thinkin' maybe you had another one just as good you could lemme borrow for a couple days."

And I'd say, "Come in! I was just working on a sketch. Here, dip into this book for awhile. If you like it, you can take it along." So he'd sit down and say, "Well, but I gotta push off pretty quick tonight." And the minutes would pile up into hours. That reading chair of mine was an old over-stuffed hulk—the cording was frayed and the upholstery dirty—but sitting in it had a mesmerizing effect. You wanted to stay sat.

I kept the record player going full tilt, so that conversation would have been difficult even if there had been anything for us to talk about. He read and I painted. I experimented with some new ideas, and often bored in so deep that I forgot David was there. It wasn't like being alone though. I seemed to work better with that wordless, toil-hardened hulk bracketed in the reading corner.

One night about 10:30 I was cleaning paint off my brushes with turpentine, when the phone rang. I lumbered into the kitchen to find a rag to wipe my fingers.

"Never mind," said David, jumping in. "I'll catch it."

He turned down the volume on the record player and picked up the telephone. I heard him say hello, and then, "Yeah, so what?"

Amazed, I came back into the living room, still swabbing my hands. Who was he talking to?

HIS face and muscled neck had turned a dark red, and his eyes were narrowed to slits. I stood there open-mouthed, watching him.

"Listen, it's my time—I'll spend it how I like, see? I don't go telling you where to go. If you ever took any advice off me it'd be a cold day in July."

I retreated into the kitchen, conscious that I'd been eavesdropping. I turned the water on and began splashily washing my hands in the sink, curiosity foaming in my thoughts. I could hear him speaking still, but I couldn't distinguish any words.

When I came in and picked up my brushes again, he was sitting still as a stone in the reading chair. He was breathing heavily, and still red in the face. He wasn't seeing a line of the book in front of him. After a short interval he left.

Several weeks sped by, and the quiet evenings took on the quality of a routine. Sometimes I'd bring him an apple or a glass of wine, and he'd nod his thanks and keep reading.

After one of these evenings when we had scarcely exchanged a word, he muttered, "I sure wish I could say thank you for all this. You been nicer to me than anybody ever was."

"You're a comfortable guy to have around, and I get lonesome," I hedged.

"I hate to keep barging in. But these here books I been readin'—they hit me where I live. I didn't even know things like this was writ down on paper."

Once he brought me a bottle of Scotch. Another time—to my utter astonishment—the Beethoven Sixth Symphony on long-playing records. He'd heard me mention I'd like to have it, and he secretly wrote down the name on a scrap of paper. Though he had spelled it Batehohn when he wrote it, and when the clerk showed him the album he was alarmed because he thought it wasn't by the same guy!

Whenever other friends dropped in, David made as if to leave, but each time I insisted he sit back down and talk awhile. What happened, of course, was that the rest of us would talk and David listen.

ONE night, however, a cruel thing happened. I had an acquaintance, Hill Beaumont, who was a violinist in the Symphony Orchestra. Hill was talented, but self-centered, opinionated and bombastic. I usually got pretty sick of him after enduring him for an evening, but when one night he stopped over, I was glad, thinking perhaps David might be induced to go to symphony concerts.

True to form, Hill talked about Hill Beaumont and music and Hill Beaumont and the international situation. He had the floor to himself most of the evening. Finally Karl and Betty, awed by the flood of Beaumont, went out on the fire escape to neck. Hill, finding his audience narrowed, made two or three attempts to draw David out the prepared to depart.

David carried some glasses and ash trays to the kitchen, and I escorted Hill to the door. He gestured with his thumb and sneered, "What are you doing—playing Pygmalion?"

I held up a warning finger and said good-night loudly. Hill shrugged and clattered off down the stairs.

David asked, "What's this here Pygmalion he was talking about?"

"Just a play by Shaw," I said, imagining I had properly evaded the issue. The next night David telephoned. He had got Shaw's "Pygmalion" from the library read it. "Listen here, I'm no kind of a street urchin. You're no better than me!" And he hung up.

Pro-'Commie' Writers Not Too Specific

Propaganda With 'Subtle' Tone Is
Their Intention

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON — A Senate subcommittee report said today that Communist script writers are spreading "subtle" propaganda over the nation's radio and television airwaves.

"The thing is subtle," the report of the Senate internal security subcommittee quoted script writer Ruth Adams Knight as testifying at closed door hearings.

Miss Knight, denouncing Communists and communism, said pro-Communist script writers stop short of "laying down the party line" in their program scripts, but skillfully weave into them "a constant derision of the capitalistic system."

They aim, she said, at "the simple people who listen to the radio, who would turn off outright Communist propaganda."

In question-and-answer testimony quoted by the subcommittee, Miss Knight and Welbourn E. Kelley denounced Ira Marion, a one-time script writer for Voice of America anti-Communist propaganda broadcasts beamed to Israel. Both swore in private life Marion is an identifiable pro-Communist.

The subcommittee in its own findings, however, treated the Voice broadcasts cautiously. It said simply that members of the Radio Writers Guild, of which Marion is a former president, "write for the Voice of America and the United Nations radio section," and that the guild "is controlled by the pro-Communist faction."

The report came on the heels of one of the subcommittee released recently alleging Communist infiltration of youth work in this country—including the Boy Scouts—and dropped a hint that the subcommittee also is studying "use of sex" in the Communist underground movement.

It quoted a statement by Richard Arens, the subcommittee's staff director, that the group planned "interrogation of the question of patronage (job dispensing), use of the blacklist against anti-Communists, use of sex."

This was the only reference to sex in the condensed transcript of testimony taken at closed hearings between April 7, 1951, and last April 1. Staff members said other portions will be released later, dealing with a variety of phases of Communist activity.

The current report said that "in 1943, pursuant to orders from Alexander Trachtenberg, a Communist leader, there began a systematic infiltration of the field of radio writers."

The World Today— Predicted Now General Ike Will Get More Aggressive

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Some of Gen. Eisenhower's friends have thrown rocks at him for not campaigning more actively, naming names, pinpointing issues and getting down to cases on whatever his program is.

This hasn't seemed to dishearten the general any, at least not publicly. Republicans who talked with him said he told them he had deliberately kept the campaign in low gear until now and now he'll open up.

But, if it's any consolation to Eisenhower's friends who think he's been tardy, the Republican presidential candidate in 1948, Gov. Dewey of New York, dawdled even longer. His campaign didn't get going until late September.

The delay by both Eisenhower and Dewey in building a fire under the Democrats was by no means the only similarity between the two men, at least before the speaking part of their campaigns began.

Dewey's aides made it known he didn't want any of the people around him to be overconfident about winning.

Eisenhower didn't want to seem overconfident. In fact, he said he was going to run scared.

Dewey conferred frequently about foreign affairs with John Foster Dulles, who was mentioned at most likely to be secretary of state, if Dewey won. Dewey decided to smash heavily at President Truman's operations in the foreign field.

Eisenhower has conferred about foreign affairs with Dulles, who has been mentioned as possibly the general's choice for secretary of state, if the general wins. Eisenhower already has smashed heavily at the Truman administration's operations in the foreign field.

Dewey said the Taft-Hartley Labor Law might need some changing. So did Eisenhower.

Dewey met with the man he defeated for the Republican nomination, Sen. Taft of Ohio. The rift between them was never healed.

Eisenhower is supposed to meet with Taft, whom he defeated for the Republican nomination. It is still questionable whether the rift between the Eisenhower and Taft factions can be completely healed.

Canned Fruits To Be No Higher

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department predicted today that retail prices of canned fruits will be no higher during the late summer and fall than a year ago despite prospects of a smaller production.

It is possible, the agency said, that prices may be a little lower than a year ago. The department's statement said the existence of larger than normal reserves of canned fruits from last year will offset the effect of smaller production this year on prices.

River Takes Peculiar Twist
PARADOX, Colo. (AP) — This Western Colorado settlement got its name because of the peculiar behavior of the Dolores River.

Instead of flowing down the valley when it drops out of the mountains, the river cuts directly across the valley and flows out northward through a canyon it dug during some past age.

Wrecker Raises Havoc

VIENNA (AP) — An Austrian butcher's car was rammed and damaged by a hit-run wrecker. He phoned a repair garage.

Recognizing the butcher and his wreck, the flabbergasted wrecker driver let go of his wheel and slid into a ditch—but not before the unhappy butcher was hit and injured.

There's probably bad news for a lot of unsuspecting stomachs coming out of the political campaign. With General Eisenhower blossoming out as an amateur cook, a lot of heculinary experts who have been shoved out of the kitchen by their wives over the years are going to be trying to get back in. That's going to be hard on friends and neighbors.

CLOWN COMING TO SEDALIA—Barnum once said that "clowns are the pegs on which to hang a circus." And the Clyde Beatty Circus, coming to Sedalia for afternoon and night performances on Friday, Sept. 5, at the fairgrounds, has over two-score of these very necessary, funny pegs.

Under the direction of Eddie Dullum, producing clown, some of the world's most famous jesters will present side-splitting antics and walk-arounds and many of them appear in featured displays throughout the program.

In addition to Clyde Beatty and his world famous wild animal dis-

Murder Charge For Lawrence

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)— Acting Dist. Atty. Elwood Rich says he will file first degree murder charges today against John Chauncey Lawrence 37, held in the slaying of Kathryn Knodel, 16, Lawrence's niece.

Rich said yesterday he will seek a grand jury indictment against Lawrence in about two weeks. Funeral services for the battered and ravished girl were held yesterday at Redlands, but burial was delayed to make sure officials have all the medical information they need.

Bloody Battle at Prisoner Of War Camp Is Fought

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Defiant Red war prisoners tested the nerves of U. N. guards in a series of incidents this month and guards "met every challenge" with maximum force, killing four and injuring 64, the U. S. Eighth Army said today.

Most of the casualties occurred at the main U. N. war prisoner camp on Koje Island off South Korea. It was on Koje last June 10 that American paratroopers broke Red rule over prison pens in a bloody battle in which one American and 40 prisoners were killed and 140 prisoners wounded.

An Eighth army spokesman summed up disturbances in July and August this way:

"In the last few weeks, prisoners of war and civilian internees in their new 500-men compounds have tried out the nerves of United Nations personnel, making trouble to see what force would be used against them. On every occasion we have used maximum force. We

Synod Retort on Ike's Assertion

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's reference to "man's brotherhood" struck fire at the 15th General Synod of the Bible Presbyterian Church.

The synod telegraphed Eisenhower yesterday that the phrase is being used by Communists to "condition our people for the so-called brotherhood and solidarity of a socialist order."

The action was proposed by Dr. Carl McIntire, Collingswood, N.J., president of the International Council of Christian Churches.

Eisenhower in his speech Monday to the American Legion convention in New York said that to combat communism Americans must "preach and practice the truly revolutionary values of man's dignity, man's freedom, man's brotherhood under the fatherhood of God."

Death of Dancer Due Sedatives

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Georgia de Laurentis, 28-year-old one-time dancer whose nearly nude body was found in a suburban ditch Aug. 4, died of chronic alcoholism and an overdose of sedatives, the coroner's office said yesterday.

The announcement said the cause of death was determined by chemical analysis. Police at first had suspected foul play after the woman's body, clad only in a brassiere and with a woman's belt and scarf knotted about the thighs, was found in suburban River Grove.

have met every challenge."

The Army began yesterday to disclose the prisoners incidents in piecemeal announcements after a Communist broadcast charged the U. N. with mistreating prisoners in August a year ago.

An Army spokesman said there had been no intent to withhold information and added that the delay was caused by a reorganization of the camp command.

Gen. Nam Il, senior Communist negotiator at the Panmunjom truce talks, made propaganda capital of the POW troubles at today's truce session. He accused the U. N. of "shameless and cowardly lies" and "treasonous Reds."

Nam Il's casualty figures—one killed and 54 injured—were lower than those announced by the Eighth Army.

The prisoner disorders occurred on two islands and in camps on the South Korea mainland. Some incidents were put down without injury. Some prisoners were hurt in free-for-all fights among the prison inmates.

Fighting by Prisoners
 Fighting among prisoners has been common as Communist and anti-Communist factions clash—apparently for power within the stockades.

Two prisoners were killed in escape attempts from mainland stockades. A third prisoner was killed when he stoned a guard at Hospital Camp No. 2 at Pusan.

The fourth POW met death Aug. 23 when an Allied infantry company barged into Koje's Compound No. 10 and forcibly halted a mass singing demonstration. Twelve other prisoners were hurt in the fight.

Of the 64 prisoners injured, 42 of them suffered gunshot wounds. The biggest single injury toll of the month occurred Aug. 11 when guards halted rioting, rock-throwing Reds on Koje with 80 tear gas grenades and 12 rounds of birdshot from riot guns. Thirty-eight Reds were peppered by the shot.

Most significant of the Army's reports today was that two riots occurred on Koje Aug. 19. About 200 prisoners began brawling among themselves. Troops, using tear gas grenades, entered the compound and restored order.

Ten prisoners were hurt in the prisoner fight and one POW was shot and wounded in the thigh when he attempted to hit a U. N. officer with a club.

On the same day two prisoners of Koje, the Eighth Army said, were shot and wounded when they picked up and hurled at guards two of 25 gas grenades which the guards had thrown to quell rioting.

There were two incidents in July. Twenty-five Reds were beaten—none seriously—in a fight with other prisoners at Nonsan camp on the mainland on July 30. On July 20 a POW was wounded in the hip in an escape attempt from Koje.

Three prisoners have escaped on Koje, the Eighth Army said. There were two incidents on Cheju Island, off South Korea, where several thousand prisoners were taken after the breakup of Koje's defiant compounds last June.

Two Strong Service Clubs Clash Tonight

Rosters Made Up Partly of Former League Players

WICHITA (AP) — Two powerful service clubs clash Wednesday night in a game that should have an important bearing on the national non-pro baseball tournament championship.

Camp Atterbury, Ind., top-seeded team in the double-elimination meet, plays the Brooke Army Medical Center of San Antonio, Tex. They are two of three undefeated teams still in the tournament.

The rosters of the two squads are dotted with former major and minor league players.

The third unbeaten team—Ft. Myer, Va.—moved into the fifth round last night by whipping previously undefeated Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., 8-6. Pitcher Tom Poholsky, former St. Louis Cardinal, and catcher Sam Calderone, with the New York Giants before entering the Army, formed the battery for Ft. Myer.

Calderone got five hits. Poholsky allowed 12 hits but was effective in the pinches.

The Sinton, Tex., Oilers, defending champions, walloped the Birmingham, Ala., Steelers, 18-2. The game was cut to 4½ innings under a 12-run lead tournament rule. The loss eliminated Birmingham. The Casa Grande, Ariz., Cotton Kings also eliminated the Wichita Boeving Bombers by handing them their second defeat, 7-6. Boeving jumped to a 4-0 lead in the second inning but Casa Grande pushed across four runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the sixth for the victory.

Wednesday night's schedule (central standard time): 5:45 p. m.—El Paso, Tex., Alpine Cowboys vs. Los Alamitos, Calif., Naval Air Station (fourth round, loser eliminated). 8 p. m.—Camp Atterbury vs. Brooke Medical Center (fourth round). 10 p. m.—Ft. Meade, Md. vs. Camp Breckinridge, Ky. (fourth round, loser eliminated).

Miners Tame Chiefs, 2-0, In Playoff

The Moberly Miners Tuesday night shut out the Sedalia Chiefs, 2-0, in the first game of a five-game playoff series for the Central Missouri Ben Johnson League championship. The teams move to Moberly for a night there tonight and back to Sedalia on Thursday night. If it's necessary to play more games, the Moberly park will be the scene for a Friday night game, and a coin toss will decide the fifth game site.

Norman Iverson, on the mound for the Miners, had excellent support from his team in the clutches, while Bobby Brown was well-backed after the first inning, but his batsmen failed to come through.

Chiefs Flub Two Chances

Twice the Chiefs had the bases loaded—in the fifth inning with two outs, and again in the sixth with the same situation. The Chiefs had 14 men left on bases during the game while Moberly straggled only six.

The Miners opened the first inning with Patterson hitting the second ball pitched for a single to center. Dennis rapped the third left to him for a sharp single to left and Patterson held up at second. Stewart then loaded the bases on an infield hit. Voegtle took a cut at the first pitch for a strike and, in swinging around, hit Cochran on his arm with the bat, delaying the game for about five minutes. He then fled out to Holts in left field, who threw to Whorton who tagged Dennis going to third. Bishop scored on the play. Bishop doubled to left center scoring Stewart. Short went out on three straight pitches by Brown.

From the first inning on it was a pitchers' battle.

Iverson a Jinx

Iverson has been the jinx for the Chiefs all season, and it will be recalled the Sedalia have never beaten the big Miner this season.

Don Broadus had a perfect night at the plate, getting three for three. Twice he led off the inning, and once he came up after two out and nobody on base. Iverson gave up seven hits, allowed four walks and struck out 11 while Brown gave up an equal number of hits, only two walks and fanned 10. Ashford was hit by a pitched ball thrown by Iverson.

An exceptionally small crowd enjoyed the exceptionally good game.

Renew Feud in Grand Circuit

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Eight Hambletonian contenders will renew a feud here Wednesday in the championship steeplechase for three-year-old trotters at the Du Quoin State Fair.

Top money event of the day will be the Castleton farm stake for two-year-old trotters which will be worth $26,070.10. Ten horses are entered.

Hambletonian entries nominated the stallion stake for $15,817.68 are Sharp Note, Duke of Lullwater, Excellent Colby, Hardy Hanover, Theme Song, Diplomat Hanover and Epicure.

Split heats featured both events on Tuesday's card. My Time won the last two heats of the Poplar Hill filly stake for three-year-old pacers after losing the first to Galleta.

In another split decision, Lu Peck won the Gainesway Farms filly stake for two-year-old trotters.

Stu Miller in First Loss in Big League

Winning Run on Hit Is Scored Through an Error

By The Associated Press

Brooklyn's pennant hungry Dodgers left St. Louis with the Cardinals rocking on the heels of a series sweep.

Tuesday night's game gave Stu Miller his first major league defeat, but he only allowed four hits and two earned runs. It was Del Rice's first error in 80 games which allowed the winning run to score.

Then after the game, Manager Eddie Stanky cut loose with a verbal blast at Dodger Pilot Charley Dressen. The Brat called Dressen a "phony and an alibi" manager.

The pair had an argument in the third base coaches' box during the game over Carl Erskine's pitching motion. But Stanky said he was upset about a motion Dressen made in the dugout, sticking his finger in his mouth "like a man taking a drink."

Young Miller fanned 10 Dodgers and walked only two, but he weakened late in the game. For five innings Miller didn't permit a Brooklyn batter to reach base. He had a no-hitter going for six frames.

The Dodgers scored their first run on a soft single by Roy Campanella after Jackie Robinson walked and Duke Snider singled. The break came in the eighth when Billy Cox singled with two out. Pee Wee Reese walked and Robinson doubled. Bobby Shubert tapped a pitch in front of the plate and Del Rice's off-balance throw glanced off Shubert's back into right field for an error that scored Reese and Robinson.

Stan Musial's 15th homer with a man on scored two for the Miners in the fifth. The other came on Hal Rice's double and Solly Hemus' single in the second.

Leahy in the Midst of the Big Task to Rebuild Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—They used to laugh when Frank Leahy sang the blues. But this year he may be better in tune.

The perennially pessimistic coach, molder of Notre Dame football giants, is in the middle of a rebuilding job.

It may take a year or so longer before he uncages another monster to begin a reign of terror on the nation's gridiron.

This 44th birthday of Leahy finds the perfectionist in good spirits.

I am pleased that our team has not been picked for the mythical national championship weeks in advance of the opening games," he said. "We do not have too much to look forward to this season and most football experts realize it."

Leahy has 31 lettermen in his hair, the largest batch in the Midwest. Thirty or 40 more pent-up gladiators will join them next week to start preparations for Notre Dame's 64th season.

"It could be that our team will show a certain amount of improvement defensively," Leahy allowed. "And John Lattner at halfback and Neil Worden, fullback, are pretty good college runners."

But for the most part, games are won on offense, not defense, and there are not any backfield men who will appear to advantage without the support of a fast-charging, good-blocking offensive line. We do not have such a line."

The world champions trailed until Gene Woodling slugged a home run with one on in the eighth. Up to that point, Lefty Bob Cain had smothered the Yanks with only three hits.

Apparent the Indians Out of The A.L. Race

NEW YORK (AP)—It is sad to see Manager Al Lopez throw in the towel and, in effect, concede that his Cleveland Indians are out of the American League race, for Al really thought his boys could do it this time.

If you failed to see Al's announcement, it came the other day in the form of the indefinite benching of Ray (like) Boone, the Tribe's regular shortstop. That was it. From here the Indians will play out their schedule, and the Yankees will decide how to divvy up their fourth straight World Series pot.

Lopez said that, so far as he knew, Boone would be out the rest of the way and that his place would be taken, in a manner of speaking, by George Strickland, a shortstop recently obtained from Pittsburgh. The man from Tampa finally made his painful decision after the jittery Boone committed three errors in one game.

We had been looking for it, wondering at precisely what point the Lopez patience would become exhausted. It was a tough decision to make. It knew that, with Boone playing well, the Indians would have a chance. He must have felt, down deep, that they couldn't win with Strickland. Al went along with Boone as long as he possibly could have, and then he moved. He owed it to his pitchers.

One of the first things we asked Lopez at Tucson last spring was whether he thought he could win with Boone. Just starting his second full season, at short, it was the question uppermost in the Indians' camp. Otherwise, the club obviously was pretty well set, especially in hitting and pitching.

But it has long since been proved that you can't win a flag without a first-class shortstop. Lopez said yes, he realized better than anyone else that the tall, likeable young fellow from San Diego had been spotty last year, but that he fully expected him to settle down and prove himself a real big leaguer this season. He was looking very deft out there in the training games, and, besides, promised to be a whale of a hitter for a shortstop. All things considered, Al summarized, he believed he could win with Boone.

Now it can only be hoped that an extended period on the bench will ease the strain on Boone's nerves and that he will yet come back to play the brand of ball of which he is capable. Until he does, the Indians are cooked as pennant contenders.

Stanky in Hot Job at Dressen

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal manager Eddie Stanky fired a verbal blast at the Brooklyn Dodger's Charley Dressen Tuesday night, calling him a "phony and an alibi manager."

Stanky, insisting "I'm not upset over the loss of the four-game series" to the Dodgers, made his remarks at his club-house office in a post-game conference with newsmen.

The two rival managers had a verbal rift over Dodger Carl Erskine's pitching motion during the second inning of the game which St. Louis dropped 4-3.

Stanky, however, said he was upset about a motion Dressen made in the dugout, sticking his finger in his mouth "like a man taking a drink."

St. Louis manager said he probably raised Dressen's dander by telling his athletes to forget about baseball until they reported to Sportsman's Park for last night's game.

He added: "But I never lifted the curfew or brought out a giggle here." Dressen left with his league-leading Dodgers for Chicago immediately after last night's game.

Clean Sweep By Dodgers On Cardinals

Step Nearer Flag Attained in a 4-3 Win on Tuesday

By JOE REICHLER

AP Sports Writer

"Expendable" Bob Feller may have lost some of his mound magic of years gone by but the stout-hearted Cleveland right-hander is not ready to act as a sacrificial lamb for anyone.

The former strikeout king was enjoying the last laughs Wednesday following one of his better performances of the year in which he teamed up with three other "expendable" teammates to bring the most important victory to the Indians.

The one-time Iowa Farm-boy came within two outs of winning a hurling duel from the lousy Bobby Shantz last night before leaving the mound in the ninth inning with the Indians and Athletics deadlocked at 3-3.

Indians Press Yankees

The Indians went on to capture a thrill-packed 6-3 triumph in 11 innings to remain within one game of the American League-leading Yankees, who whipped the St. Louis Browns, 6-3, in New York.

A two-run triple by castoff Barney McCosky, a Philadelphia discard, snapped the 3-3 deadlock and gave reliever Lou Brissie the win.

Brissie, who also once wore the livery of the Athletics, retired all eight men he faced and struck out pinch hitter Keith Thomas and the dangerous Eddie Joost with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth after relieving Feller.

Brooklyn's run away Dodgers moved a step nearer to the National League flag, sweeping the four-game series in St. Louis with a 4-3 success over the Cardinals.

The second-place New York Giants remained 10½ lengths behind the Dodgers, winning a 14-7 slugfest in Pittsburgh. Boston's Braves blanked the Reds in Cincinnati, 2-0, and the Chicago Cubs eked out a 13-inning 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Washington moved into fourth place in the American League as Bob Porterfield batted in the only run in winning a 1-0 mound duel from Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox. The third-place Boston Red Sox continued to trail the Yankees by 3½ games, vanquishing the Detroit Tigers, 11-3.

According to a Cleveland writer, Feller, assigned to oppose Shantz in place of Mike Garcia, the Cleveland ace, was being sacrificed to the 22-game winning Philadelphia southpaw.

"Feller will be in there tonight because he's expendable," wrote Ed McAuley, the able sports columnist of the Cleveland News. "If the fabulous little Bobby Shantz is to win his 23rd game at the expense of the Indians, it will hurt less if he wins it from Feller."

"We'll see tonight who is expendable or who is being sacrificed," was Feller's reply.

Execution for Billy Cook in Dewey Killing

Kidnap-Slayer of Six Must Go to The Gas Chamber

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—His conviction confirmed by the California Supreme Court, William E. (Billy) Cook, kidnap-slayer of six persons, today faced execution in San Quentin prison's gas chamber.

Date of execution has not been set.

In an unanimous decision, the seven-man court yesterday upheld the 24-year-old former Joplin, Mo. dishwasher's conviction and death sentence for the January, 1951, slaying of Robert Hilton Dewey, Seattle oil salesman, near El Centro, Calif.

Cook was sentenced to death by Trial Judge Luray J. Mouser last November after a jury found that Cook was sane at the time of the slaying.

California law requires the state Supreme Court to automatically review first degree murder convictions and death sentences.

The court held there was ample testimony "from which the jury could infer that the defendant knew what he was doing and knew the difference between right and wrong."

Sentence of 300 Years

The stocky, thick-lipped Cook already is under 300-year sentence for kidnapping Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mosser and their three children at Atwood, Ill., at the beginning of Cook's bloody reign of terror through the Midwest, Southwest and California.

After the Mosser's bodies were found stuffed in an abandoned mine shaft near Joplin, an intensive manhunt was launched for Cook, who fled west.

On Jan. 6, 1951, Cook commandeered the car of Homer Waldrup, Blythe, Calif., deputy sheriff, drove it three miles, and then flagged down Dewey and shot him.

The bloody foray was halted a few days later when Mexican police captured Cook 500 miles below the border in a cafe in Baja California. Two men Cook was holding hostage were rescued unharmed.

Defense attorneys maintained before the Supreme Court that Cook's trial at El Centro was unfair. Cook, a self-styled "tough guy," had placed his entire defense on the claim he was insane at the time he killed Dewey.

The high court held Dewey's killing was in the perpetration of robbery, and therefore, by definition first degree murder, and punishable by death.

More Weapons Asked for Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's reform government has asked the United States to supply automatic weapons for an increased mobile police force.

Premier Aly Maher also appeared for American economic aid to the country's living standard.

Maher announced the requests last night after conferring with U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery and Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, leader of the Army coup which ousted ex-King Farouk.

A few months ago the U. S. supplied Egypt with enough automatic weapons to set up a mechanized police regiment of 3,000 men. It is understood the government plans to increase this force to 5,000.

Maher told reporters he hoped to hold general parliamentary elections in Egypt before next February.

CHOW LINE, LIMITED—Army authorities at Ft. Leslie J. McNair, Washington, D. C., have decided to prune the wastelands of some of the post's 300 daily diners, most of whom work in sedentary jobs and are getting too plump in the middle on regular Army chow. So this "diet table" has become a fixture at the 7021st Area Service Unit there. The special mess is described as "a very attractive, low-calorie menu." At diet table, left to right, are Cpl. Cleo Denmon, Dayton, Ohio; Pfc. Ben Griffith, Uniontown, Pa.; Cpl. Albert Exum, Washington, D. C.; and M/Sgt. Benjamin P. Paras, Philippine Islands. Pvt. Griffith is eating standard Army meal to show the contrast with the diet plates.

Forged Vouchers Playing Santa Claus

CHICAGO (AP)—A $42-a-week messenger who played Santa Claus was Anthony Adams, 44-year-old bachelor, who said he forged company vouchers to get the money to give to needy friends and relatives.

Adams worked in the office of William Wood Prince Jr., president of the Union Stock Yard and Transit Co. He said in court that he signed Prince's name to vouchers, then cashed the checks.

Hollywood Is Making Only Sure-Fire Box-Office Pics

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The film studios are supposed to be betting only on sure things these days. It's a current Hollywood maxim to take no chances. Only the sure-fire money makers are being filmed today. There is one exception to this movement to satisfy the known public demands for orthodox film entertainment. Oddly enough, a picture is being made at MGM, home of glossy musicals and star-packed spectacles.

The film is called "See How They Run," and is the first non-musical made by a major studio with an all-negro cast. Its producer, Sol Fielding, admits that the venture is a financial gamble.

"The negro audience will just about pay for the cost of the picture," he estimated. "If it has enough quality to attract a segment of the white audience, it might make a profit."

The whole project began in the mind of a young negro school teacher, Mary Elizabeth Vroman of Montgomery, Ala. She tried her hand at writing a short story concerning the experiences of a teacher in a negro school. She sent it, along with a pleading letter, to the Ladies Home Journal.

The magazine printed both. Last year, the story was cited for a Christopher award and brought to the attention of MGM. The studio bought the story and assigned Emmet Lavery, author of "The Magnificent Yankee," to turn out a script. Signed for leading roles were night club singers Dorothy Dandridge and Harry Belafonte, plus Philip Hepburn, an 11-year-old veteran of Broadway shows.

Unlike the other two all-negro films of recent years—"Cabin in the Sky" and "Stormy Weather"—"See How They Run" is not a musical. Nor is it a story of negro-white relations, as were "Home of the Brave," "Pinky," "Lost Boundaries" and "Intruder in the Dust."

"See How They Run" is the story of a boy in the third grade," said

Metal Supply Is to Be More Plentiful

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The government took copper and aluminum off its critical list today and indicated an improving metal supply situation may permit a big boost in military and civilian production next year.

The Defense Production Administration forecast a between supply of steel, copper and aluminum in early 1953.

Copper particularly has become more plentiful, partly because not so much of it was used by manufacturers during the steel strike.

DPA Administrator Henry M. Fowler reportedly has advised the Defense Department that more materials can be expected by next April, or earlier. While not suggesting increased military production, he has told the military men they can schedule greater arms production if they wish to do so.

Yesterday, the National Production Authority told the construction industry it can expect considerably greater quantities of materials by next April, or perhaps as early as next Jan. 1 for private building.

A two-year ban on building such recreational facilities as race tracks, pool halls, ball parks and swimming pools also will be lifted next April, or possibly earlier, the NPA said.

In taking copper and aluminum off the DPA's security list, Fowler said quantities of these two key metals are now sufficient, under existing controls, to meet all important needs of both defense and civilian production.

The steel strike, he said, delayed construction of new aluminum plants and aluminum stockpile goals have been boosted. Yet, he said, aluminum will be increasingly available for all civilian uses.

The steel supply, he said, will return to the relatively plentiful state it was before the recent strike by early next year. He said the strike cost about 2½ months production this year.

4-H's Dairy Show Has 106 Head Entered

The Golden Jubilee 4-H Club Dairy exhibit of the Missouri State Fair, with 106 head, broke all previous records for club calves.

All dairy numbers were up this year with a count of 750 in the five breeds shown. A Central Missouri district judging contest was held during the fair to select a team to compete with the other four districts at Columbia in a state contest on Sept. 25 when the state team will be picked to go to Waterloo for the national contest at a later date.

Fewer girls with cattle projects was noticeable this year with only ten showing livestock. However, these girls were doing right well for their clubs.

M. J. (Pat) Regan, Columbia, was the judge.

Declaration All Required

NEW YORK (AP)—Customs officials say an Air France steward, arrested yesterday on a charge of failing to declare seven platinum bars, had no reason to try to hide the metal.

There is no duty on platinum brought into this country, the customs spokesman said, and the only requirement is that it be declared.

But customs officials said the steward, Andre Foligny, 30, of Paris, apparently did not know this and hid the seven bars in a vest under his shirt. The platinum was valued at $7,000.
